Father Oakleaf

By Calvin Robinson

The Ides of March behind us, now must look to the end of April, the tax filing date.

Yesterday was St. Patrick's Day, and the sale to Ireland. Many of fine Americans have ancestry. From Killarney, Erin, from Macroom and Galway swarmed to Boston, Cork and the whole of Great America. My own grandmother's ancestry is from Wales. Others from England; Brightman from Scotland, but there are few of The Emerald Isle in the heart of America. One of the highlights of the short life of President Kennedy was his meeting visit to his ancestral village. Irish songs, Irish poetry, part of our life. Their music, Gaelic, is one of the most difficult to master. Once I was side by side with a fine Irishmigrant and he tried to teach me to speak his language, but gave up. He did cause me to sing and hear the immortal song and when you hear the Irish tenor bear down on "Irish Eyes Are Smiling" you can't forget it. I have a recipe for 'Irish Coffee' and it is the one you want to swim across the Sea. The ill-fated Titanic was built in Ireland. President Jefferey Jackson's ancestors were from Ireland and he was the site of the ancestral home. John Paul Jones made naval history. Jonathan Swift, author of Gulliver's Travels and a church at Kilrook. Bangor, Sir Thomas Lipton made his career, planned and built yachts, The Shamrock I. One myth: St. Patrick did not drive the snakes out of Ireland because Ireland (and Scotland) never had any. If you are not Irish, be proud of it: "Mo bheannacht go hinis aoibhinn Ealga" Blessing go with thee, O delightful isle of Ireland."

Now I will write about Alabama . . . but perhaps in the way you would like. The famed Civil War hero Nathan Farragut, had a basic training. His iron-clad ram, Tennessee, was constructed and received her crew in 1864. One of the fiercest battles of the War featured the Tennessee and it has been fully related by the Historian, James D. Johnston, CSN. There was also the location of a foundry and it was a railroad center, from which vital supplies were routed to Lee's army of Northern Virginia. As a boy, 1865, arrived Lee heard of the fall of Selma to Federal forces. It was this news as much as anything else which started the long trek to Appomattox and the dramatic end of the war in the parlor of Wilmer McLean.

Grant Shop Open Saturday

Lee Grant Gift Shop will be the spring - summer on Saturday.

Appomattox's Twirling Rebelettes

The Twirling Rebelettes, above, are putting the finishing touches to their routines, preparing for three exciting events in April. On Saturday, April 2 they will participate in the Appomattox Parade at 2:30 p.m. On Friday, April 9 the girls will twirl in the grand finale to "Music of the Blue and Gray," special Centennial program sponsored by the Appomattox High Chorus at the H. S. Auditorium. On Friday, April 30, they will star in the annual "Twirlarama," an evening of twirling and dancing that includes all grades of the Appomattox Elementary School. Pam Martin and Anne Hermcall are the instructors. Shown above, left to right, are Patsy Jones, Jane Hill, Carolyn Jo Morris, Kathy Mitchell, Catty Sue Kerr, Kitty Simpson, Pam Martin, Melanie Folks, Penny Sue Martin, Freda Jones, Vicki Saunders, Debra Hawkins, and Dreama Edmunds, In the back row: Sandy Jamerson, Jan Stanley, Jeanette Clarke, Ann Sears, Susan Porton, Anne Hermcall, Diane Carroll, Denise Ohlsen, Kathy O'Brien, Lisa Roach, Sharon Paulette, Brenda Nash, Debra Rowe and Beverly Harvey were absent when this picture was taken.

FFA Awards Presented To Outstanding Members

Kenneth Goin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joun Goin, of Route 2, Appomattox, was the recipient of the Robert E. Lee Chapter of the Future Farmers of America highest hcoor that of Chapter Star Farmer at the annual Father-son banquet held Friday night March 12, in the cafeteria of the Appomattox High School. Mr. H. B. Pack, instructor of vocational agriculture, in making the presentation to Kenneth stated, "Your overall accomplishments in the chapter in the areas of leadership, scholarship, determination, willingness to work, and supervised farming program quality you for this honor." Young Goin also received the crop farming award for his outstanding work in his crop enterprises.

Mr. W. H. King, president of the Burkeville Veneer Company, Mr. David Smith, chief forest warden for Appomattox County, and Mr. Horace Shirey, farmer and father of the chapter president, were honored by the Robert E. Lee Chapter by being awarded honorary membership in the chapter. These men were recognized for their outstanding services to the chapter over the past years. Honorary membership is reserved for adults outside of the chapter, and for individuals who have distinguished themselves to the chapter.

Other members that were presented FFA Foundation awards for special achievement were Miller Morris, farm electrification; William Carson, who received the R. N. Ashworth Farm Mechanics Award; Norman Booth, dairy farming; Dwight Pauzete, livestock farming.

Eugene Shirey, president of the chapter, was master of ceremonies for the banquet that was designed to honor the Dads of chapter members. Gene Chernault gave the invocation. A welcome was extended to the guests by Albert Carter. Ronald Milner, state FFA president brought greetings from the Station Association to the more than 185 members, Dads, and other guests that were present. A summary of the activities of the chapter for the past year was made by Jimmy Garrett and Charles Jamerson. Lawrence Phelps gave the accomplishments of the adults that received the honorary chapter farmer membership. H. B. Pack presented the awards to the outstanding members in the chapter.

Miss Jane Richardson and Miss Becky Carson provided entertainment for the members and guests with several musical selections. A film entitled "Your Star Farmers of America" was shown to the group.

A special feature of the banquet this year was "open house" in the department of vocational agriculture. Projects and work of the students of vocational agriculture were on display.

Centennial Housing

The Appomattox Junior Woman's Club and the Home Demonstration Clubs has been asked by the Civil War Centennial Committee to look into the possibilities of Guest Housing in and around the village of Appomattox during the week end of April 9th, and 10th. There will be many out of town visitors needing accommodations and due to limited Motel facilities we feel it would be a great service to our community if we as individuals would offer free housing as a gesture of our southern hospitality.

Plans are being made to place centennial housing guest cards in an information center to be located at a desirable place easily accessable to tourist. A representative from one of the Clubs in Centennial gown will be present at the information center to offer information and guest cards to those seeking accommodations. This card will be prepared by guest upon arrival at residence.

If you have a room or rooms available and would like further information call one of the following committee members. Mrs Peggy Berger — 352-2365; Mrs. Peggy Lawson — 352-5691.

LEONARD J. FELLMAN

Stamp Designer Coming April 9

Leonard J. Fellman, the designer of the Appomattox Civil War Centennial Commemorative Stamp, will be in Appomattox for the stamp issuance ceremonies. Mr. Fellman, a commercial artist of Edina, Minn., and a stamp collector, was extended an invitation to attend the Centennial by Postmaster H. W. Conner. He will be accompanied by his wife and two children, Lynn, 11, and Dwight, 9.

Fellman's design will be the fifth and final stamp of the Civil War Centennial series and one of the "very few" unsolicited designs used by the Post Office Department.

The designer, 44, completed his art work last Labor Day, sent it off to Washington, and ten days later received a letter stating the postal people were "very pleased." "It was most encouraging to get such a nice letter and I started promising the kids that if they used my stamp, we would all take a trip to Washington this winter."

His original design was modified only slightly, Fellman said. The words "with charity toward all" were dropped from the stamp, leaving only the phrase "with malice toward none" from Lincoln's second inaugural address.

The artist studied the four previous Civil War stamps (1961-62—63-64) and noted all were horizontal designs of fighting action. Fellman's thoughts strayed to his days as a paratrooper at the close of World War II in Europe where he earned two battle stars. "I tried to express what I had felt," he said. "The challenge was to put in a few brush strokes a feeling of solemnity and dignity— the silence of peace."

An earlier sketch had included General Grant and Lee on Ava but I noticed other stamps had only soldiers." He changed it.

A year and a dozen sketches later, he sent his vertical blue and gray design of a soldier with bowed head, standing before stacked rifles to postal authorities.

Fellman makes his living illustrating merchandise for hard-ware catalogues. His stamp was his first attempt at "serious" art work. "It was the first time I signed my name to anything,' he said.

Mr. Fellman and his family and Assistant Postmaster General William M. McMillan will be guests of honor at a dinner party on April 8th given by the personnel of the Appomattox Post Office.

Revival To Begin March 28

A Revival will begin at Evergreen Methodist Church Sunday, March 28, at 7:30 p.m. with the Reverend John A. McKenry, Jr. of Elizabeth City, N.C., as evangelist.

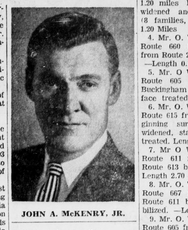
The Revival meetings will continue each evening thrugh Friday, April 2 with the public cordially invited to attend.

Mr. McKenry is a native of Lynchburg, and educated at Fairmont State, Duke Divinity School and Boston University. Mr. McKenry was the Danville District Superintendent in which capacity he supervised the work of 53 ministers and 53 Methodist Churches. He has also been District Superintendent of the Winchester District.

He was one of the youngest executives in that post among the Cabinet guiding Virginia Methodism. He also serves on many of the important Boards and Committees of the Virginia Methodist Conference.

He has served every type church from the small rural church on a seven point circuit (seven churches under one pastor) to one of Methodism's largest, having served Ghent—Norfolk for four years prior to being elevated to the Superintendency and is now Senior Pastor of Fort Hill, Lynchburg. He has also served while preaching, as College Associate Professor, High School principal and teacher.

In 1953 he was awarded the "Outstanding Salesman BIP Award" by the Richmond Sales Executive Club for his outstanding development of his Church during his five years there, which included raising a 'Mile of Dollars' and his congregation won national fame with picture and article in "Newsweek' by taping dollar bills end to end and measuring them down the streets of Richmond.



JOHN A. McKENRY, JR.

($10,600 make a mile).

He is in constant demand, with more invitatiocs than can be accepted, to speak to civic, religious and business groups.

He is married to the former Natalie Paris, of Lynchburg, and they have two sons and two daughters. Mr. McKenry was ordained to the Methodist Ministry in 1938. His fellow ministers elected him delegate to the last Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church and he was an alternate delegate to the General Conference in Denver, Colorado, 1960.

He was a delegate to the World Methodist Council in Norway in 1961 and in addition to preaching in Norway, he was privileged to tour Europe including Italy, Egypt and the Holy Land.

County citizens meeting Friday March 12, with the Board of Supervisors and C. M. Clarke, resident engineer, and E. L. McCraw, assistant resident engineer, Appomattox Residency, State Highway Departm e n t, made the following requests for road additions and improvements for the coming Highway Department fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1965. Supervisors made it plain that making a request does not guarantee that the road requested will be made. These decisions come later, they explained, and are based on the amount of traffic such roads bear, and on the limits of the Highway budget.
